MADISON MEN CALLED AT TRIAL

Many Witnesses From Here At
Examining Hearing Of Fox
In Winchester

The Reese Fox trial at Winchester ran over from Friday to Saturday. A large number of Madison county people are attending, some having been summoned as witnesses. It is understood that the defense will attempt to impeach the testimony of Hardie Smith, ferryman, who says he saw Hardman and Fox cross the river at Boonesboro late on the night that Renaker was killed. Among the witnesses summoned by the Commonwealth to appear Saturday were Dr. D. J. Williams, W. B. Turley, Van Benton, Claude Devore, George Goodloe and Joe P. Chenault.

Winchester, Ky., Aug. 25—The examining trial of Reese Fox, accused of having been an accomplice of Scobee Hardman, alleged murderer of Leon Renaker, wealthy poultry dealer, will resume this morning when the defense will introduce Carl Mahan, declared to be an important witness, who has been at Camp Knox in training with the Clark county hospital company No. 137. When county court convened at 10 o'clock Friday morning it was requested that the arrival of Mahan be awaited, but when the session opened at 1 o'clock he had not arrived.

When the examining hearing began the courtroom was crowded to capacity with relatives of the accused man, members of the family of the murdered turkey king and connections of Hardman prominent among the attendants.

The greater part of the testimony introduced followed the same lines as those of the examining trial of Hardman, although the defense is expected to introduce a new angle today when it introduces testimony to prove that Hale M. Kreis, of Lexington, a traveling salesman, and Harvey Ringo, of Richmond, were occupants of a Dodge roadster which crossed Boonesboro ferry the night the murder was committed and that their machine was probably mistaken by the ferryman near the bathing beach for that in which Fox and Hardman were alleged to have crossed the ferry in after midnight, near the time of the murder.

Fifty witnesses were sworn in for the defense and 27 for the Commonwealth. There were a number of witnesses summoned to corroborate the testimony of Hardin Smith, ferryman, who stated that he saw Hardman and Fox cross the river the night Renaker was supposed to have been murdered.

When Fox entered the courtroom he was calm and did not appear to be nervous. He was still limping and wearing a tennis shoe as the result of having sprained his ankle in a recent ball game. County Attorney H. H. Moore, Maury Kemper, of Lexington, J. T. Metcalf and Frank Stivers, who has been doing some work on this case in conjunction with Mr. Kemper, were seated at the prosecution table. The defendant, his mother and his attorneys, James G. Denny, of Lexington, G. E. Wycoff and Rodney Haggard, occupied the table assigned to the defense.

The Commonwealth called 11 witnesses during the afternoon and only attempted to prove that Scobee Hardman had a motive, not bringing out much evidence against Fox.

Mr. Kemper, when Mr. Denny objected to his line of examination when he was cross examining Mrs. Renaker, said that the prosecution would first show that Hardman had a motive and that second it would show that Hardman and Fox had conspired.

Former Vice-president Marshall declares he will not accept the Presidential nomination in 1924 if it is offered to him.

Senators Pomerene and Robinson, Democrats, attacked Secretary Hughes' defense of Newberry in the Senate.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF BOEN STOCK ARRESTED

James Todd, Negro, Gives Self
Up To Police After Being Sought Several Days

James Todd, negro under 20 years of age, has given himself up to the Richmond police after they had combed the city for him throughout several days. He is alleged to have poisoned stock which was the property of Za Boen, also of this city. Todd gave bond to the sum of $500 to appear in county court for his examining trial Tuesday.

The crime was committed a little over a week ago and Mr. Boen suffered the loss of five hogs and one horse. The negro was a suspect from the start as he had threatened to inflict a loss of a thousand dollars upon Mr. Boen when the latter caught the young negro stealing coal from the coal yards of Powers & Benton between Orchard and Hallie Irvine streets. No other could be even suspected of such a lowly trick. Both county and city officials have been on the lookout for Todd but he had made little headway until he put in his appearance at the police station to give himself up. Unusual interest has been manifested in the case here and the court house will be packed for the examining trial, officials believe.

MADSON FOX HOUNDS CONTINUE TO WIN

Madison county fanciers who showed their fox hounds at the Blue Grass fair in Lexington have returned home with unusual success. Many local fox hunters attended the fox hound show and returned to Richmond, pronouncing it the best in the country. There were more fox hounds on display than at any other fair, local men say. Of those who showed some of their dogs there from this county Charles Powell was most successful. Silver trophies were given to the winners. Mr. Powell won first and second in the best derby dog class, first in the best pair ring, second in the derby bitch class, first with the best dogs with two bitches and second in the sweepstake ring for the best dog. W. K. Herrin, of Mississippi, won in the sweepstake ring. J. L. Kantzlar, also of Madison, won the ring for the best pack with some of his dogs. The best fox hounds in the country were gathered at the fair in Lexington. They were there from many other states and the fox hound show as a whole was a big success.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

The Chase, official organ of the Kentucky Fox Hunters, has the following tributes in the current issue to the late Harris Crooke, of Madison county:

"I read with deep regret in the Richmond, Ky., paper about the death of R. H. Crooke, Harris, as he was called by his friends, and he counted them by the thousands, was at one time one of the most attractive and best posted breeder of hounds in Kentucky, living near the homestead of Gen. Wash Maupin, and being an intimate friend of the Maupins, he was certainly venerated in the old Maupin household. I have often heard him tell of Tennessee Lad, when and where he came from and about a great many other hounds the General owned. He promised to write a story of Tennessee Lad, but his illness prevented him from doing it."

Two men lost their lives and two others were wounded in a dispute over wages between a farmer and his tenant at Calico Rock, Ark.

Thirty eight head of Duroc hogs, averaged $132 at McKee Bros.' sale near Versailles.

Albert J. Moore, a self-styled love healer, was fined $100 in the Chicago courts.

The Simonss' road bill is to go to the Court of Appeals to determine its legality.

WHEN THE REGISTER DOESN'T COME

My father says the Daily Register ain't put up right, He finds a lot of fault, he does, perusin' it all night. He says there ain't a single thing in it worth while to read, And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need. He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the hum— But you ought to hear him holler when the Register doesn't come.

He reads the wedding's and he snorts like all get out, He reads the social doin's with a most derisive shout, He says they make the paper for the women folks alone; He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan. He says of information it doesn't have a crumb— But you ought to hear him holler when the Register doesn't come.

He's always first to grab it, and he reads it plumb clean thru, He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—this is true. He says "they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guys."

"I'm going to take a day some time an' go and put 'em wise. Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb—"

But you ought to hear him holler when the Register doesn't come.

KLAN BIG ISSUE IN TEXAS RACES

(By Associated Press)
Dallas, Tex., Aug. 26—The Ku Klux Klan promises to be an issue in Texas politics until after the final elections in November. It has become a vital issue in the Democratic party especially in the race for Democratic nomination for United States Senator, and is creeping into the race for nomination for lesser state offices. It also has been a bitter issue in certain counties.

The action of the Republican state committee in opposing the Klan in its platform, adopted in convention at Fort Worth August 9, precludes dropping of the issue after the Democratic primary of August 26. Politicians declare they see a bid by the Republicans for the anti-Klan Democratic vote in the platform plank opposing the Klan.

The Republicans, for the first time in a number of years, have a full state ticket in the field. Heretofore nomination on the Democratic ticket has been considered equal to election, with only an occasional exception.

There are few members of the Republican party optimistic enough to declare they expect success this year, but they do say they expect the Republican vote will show an increase and the Democrats will not have as easy a time as in the past.

HOSPITAL UNIT DOES FINE WORK

Camp Knox, Ky., Aug. 26—The 138th Hospital Company, now enjoying their two weeks encampment at Camp Knox, under command of Major Omer F. Hume, is making a record to be proud of by any organization, and which few equal. Although it has had no experience in military training before it ranks among the best now in camp and has received honorable mention from the Post Commander and other ranking officers. Much of this credit is due Lieutenant Yates and Sergeant Long, of the regular army, who have had the field training of the unit in hand. It was the first organization in camp to pass inspection of 100 per cent, which fact alone is quite an honor. A good game is expected, starting at 3 o'clock sharp.

Railway Heads Declare, After All Peace Negotiations Are Called Off

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 26—Federal administration today began consideration of the operation of some of the railroads of the country if necessary in the interest of the public welfare. Meanwhile labor leaders, and railway executives began an endurance fight after the end of the peace negotiations. The railway heads declared the fight is to the end and they will "break the strike within a week."

Washington, Aug. 26—The administration will seek legislation from Congress authorizing the taking over of certain railroads and anthracite mines if there is not a radical improvement in the industrial situation within a few days it was indicated Friday night after Senator Albert B. Cummins, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, and Attorney General H. M. Daugherty had conferred with President Harding for more than an hour.

Railroads will be given an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to furnish adequate service it was declared, but those which cannot give proper service will be taken over by the government under present plans. If production of anthracite is not resumed "within a few days" it was added, a bill will be introduced in Congress to authorize the government to take over the mines and produce coal. Legislation to enable such seizure, Senator Cummins predicted, would be rushed thru Congress.

The White House conference followed a survey of the situation at the regular cabinet meeting Friday and the termination without result of the conference at New York between railroad executives and union officials. It was stated that the conference would be resumed Saturday.

Before Friday night's conference the ground work had been laid through administration overtures for a further meeting between the parties to the anthracite dispute to be held next week. It was indicated that certain proposals would be made which it was hoped would bring about an adjustment of their differences which resulted in the sessions at Philadelphia this week.

While no explanation was given as to how the government would operate the seized anthracite mines, it was indicated that a wage scale would be fixed and then the miners requested or directed to return to work. Coal was understood to have been marketed thru commercial channels, the government taking steps to prevent possible profiteering.

The bituminous situation did not enter into the discussion, the conference agreeing that this industry was getting better. The ability of the roads to move coal from the mines, in the view of officials, constitutes an important element in this connection, however, and may prove a determining factor as to the necessity for federal operation of carriers.

Falls To Death In Barn In Jessamine

Nicholasville, Ky., Aug. 26—Welch Enoch, 20 years old, while at work on a tobacco barn, fell a distance of 26 feet at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and as the result of which he died at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Zeke Johns. He was a grandson of Richard Hager, former jailer of Jessamine county. The barn from which he fell is located on the farm of Mrs. Mollie Peel near Elm Fork church. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Luke's Catholic church and the body will be buried in the Nicholasville cemetery.

Mrs. Emmett Allen at Belmore, O., committed suicide after she had killed her two infant children. Despondency over the death of another child is given as the cause.
